DISCUSSION ITEMS:

1. Sewer EDU format review. John E. will discuss this topic as he Julie and Derin have been working in detail on the EDU structure. I am working with them to assist.
2. PDD-R / Zoning Map: Review of resolutions, public hearings, changes of ordinances/local laws between 1958 and present has taken longer than anticipated but we need the extra time for a more detailed review. We are working on the updated Zoning Map and looking for errors in zones possibly changed by resolution only, and not ordinance or Local Law.

OTHER?

Assessor's Progress report as of September 29, 2022
Prepared for the work session of October 12, 2022

Since my last report, the office has been busy processing Senior Exemptions and answering general tax questions. Folks are taking advantage of the opportunity to make their renewals while the weather is nice.

During my last report, I mentioned I would go to the annual Assessor's conference. I did. During the conference the NYS Office of Real Property Services, commonly referred to as ORPS, presented information on legislation in process or passed and signed. One of them is legislation allowing municipalities to increase the real property for Seniors to $50,000. Although the bill was passed and signed, the provision is for local municipal units to opt-in. That means, for the Town of Chenango to opt-in, we would have to repeat the process we did last year when we increased the Senior limits to $34,500. As I write this, the Town of Chenango has the most current, up-to-date, and progressive income scales that I deal with. Until that changes, I don't see a need to change our income eligibility scale.

The item that generated the most conversation, was the law requiring municipalities to inform all residents of the partial tax exemption for Senior Citizens, a second time, by a separate mailing, repeating the language found in the first mailing in January. Although this bill has been passed, as of this writing, the Governor has not signed the unfunded mandate that this bill creates. As a group, Assessors are opposed to A.01980/S.08570.

While at the conference, I was able to talk with several Assessor's regarding the question of assessing debt for waste water treatment. I am grateful for the timely conversation and advice which follows later in this meeting.

In another meeting which also targeted the topic of partial Senior Exemptions, it was noted that as the income eligibility scale goes up, the volume of applications and renewals will increase exponentially, and the complexity of calculating eligibility will go up as well. People whose income is only $20,000 or so, it generally comes from Social Security. But if the target audience is households with $50,000, the variety of incomes will be greater, and the staffing required to administer the program will go up as well. The exact number of additional hours required will vary depending upon the community.

EDU Model

October 12, 2022

The summary comes from a model. Neither the summary nor the model is the final product. The final product is the text used to describe the special district tax when, or if, it is enacted. The model predicts the financial impact, but does so with the understanding that there may be changes in the future, or errors in the current data. Parcels can be incorrectly described, hotels may have more or less rooms, apartments may have been added, and homes may be added. All of this should be allowed within the “cone of uncertainty”, to use the recent hurricane season analogy.

We can move forward, but only if we resolve the questions presented at the end of this document.

History

Current Sewage Debt is guided by Town Law, Section 56-5. Current town law uses a number of different methods, found in paragraph (K), based on property “use”, to determine assessed debt. The methods include the length of road frontage, the amount of water used, the number of washing machines, the number of cars that can be washed simultaneously, the number of persons employed by the business, or the number of individual apartments. Once the debt limit was set, I don’t find evidence that the units were reevaluated at any time.

The method described does not follow the idea of “simple” as described by Jeff Smith. Town Law that is simple, easy to describe to residents, is more likely to be accepted. That is good public policy.

Advice

While at the Assessor’s Conference, I specifically asked how waste water treatment plant debt was assessed by other New York State communities. All of the Assessors I asked agreed that frontage and ad valorem methods have fallen out of favor with the public and with the courts because we all benefit from clean water. They also agreed that trying to count the number of employees was problematic as you would have to define and defend the definition of employee (contract, vendor, payroll, etc...). None of them mentioned counting washing machines. All have discovered that landlords don’t pay for sewer debt, they just raise the rent, negatively impacting those least able to afford the increase.

Apply the Advice

So, on to the model. The model assumes a $35 million debt load. The model does not include interest on the debt. For each million dollars increase or decrease, that changes the EDU values approximately $10, depending upon the total number of EDUs defined. Although we can be creative with the model, the greatest impact to the town resident’s assessment is created by reducing the overall debt load.

Current EDU: defines $35 million in debt spread distributed using current town code as described in Section 56-6 (K). Parcels with current sewer service are included in the debt load. Parcels with septic tanks are not included.

Average EDU: also known as the Jeff Smith model. This model defines an EDU as the average quarterly cubic foot consumption of an active residential parcel. The residential parcels are then defined as one EDU, and all non-residential are assessed in reference to previously defined average residential usage amount. In the Average EDU model, no exceptions are made and so certain high usage commercial customers end up with very high assessments. Ex: Hoffman's Car Wash would pay $100,540 per year.

Median EDU: recognizes that there are a few very high usage residential customers. By using the median number, the total number of EDU's goes up, which relieves the debt from the residential customer, but adds to the debt of commercial customers. Using Hoffman's again, they'd have to pay $112,570 per year.

Proposed EDU: recognizes the values from the Assessor's conference, and also recognizes the value of some commercial customers whose waste water volume seems inflated. Although not as generous for the residential customer, it is easy to understand and share amongst the residents.

Questions

The Proposed EDU makes some assumptions. Let's review and confirm here.

The model assumes that vacant lots, commercial, residential, or rural, that have access to sewer will be included in the assessment equal to one EDU. There are some lots that cannot be developed because they would not meet building code restrictions. Can I assume those will be excluded from assessment? Yes/No

The model assumes that flag lots, those with driveways in excess of two hundred feet, are excluded. The number of feet is variable, I would expect, based on the breakeven point between installing a septic system and installing a sewer line. How many feet? _____

The model assumes that lots without road frontage are excluded from the assessment. Yes/No?

There was disagreement at my Assessor's Conference as to whether the number of assigned EDUs per parcel should be reviewed, and how often. On the one hand, it is assumed that taxes will motivate water conservation and that should be rewarded with lower taxes. Also, review allows us to correct data during the life of the debt payments. On the other hand, the amount of debt, and the total payment is constant. And so, like your car payment, it too should remain constant. Review? How often?

Properties owned by the Town of Chenango were not included in the model. Yes/No

Property owned by Broome County? Yes/No

Summary and calculations

Single family residential property is assessed one EDU. Two family residential property is assessed two EDU. Three family residential property is assessed three EDU

Apartment buildings are assessed one EDU plus 0.5 EDU for 1 bedroom, 0.75 for 2 bedroom, and 1.0 EDU for 3+ bedroom apartments.

Vacant lots, regardless of zoning, with access to sewer line are assessed one EDU.

Commercial, industrial, business property EDUs are equal to One, plus the annual water usage measured in cubic feet, multiplied by 7.42 and then divided by 25,000.

Ice rink and car wash EDUs are equal to One plus, plus the annual water usage measured in cubic feet, multiplied by 7.48 and then divided by 100,000.

Class_Desc	Current EDUs	Average EDUs	Median EDUs	Proposed EDUs
Total Commerical & Multi-Unit EDUs	957	1,183	1,406	1,394
Total Vacant lot EDUs	223	0	0	152
Total Residential EDUs	2,081.75	2,356.50	2,356.50	1,921.00
Total Assigned EDUs in the System	3,262	3,539	3,762	3,467
Assumed Debt	35,000,000	35,000,000	35,000,000	35,000,000
Debt load of each EDU per year	357.64	329.64	310.11	336.46
Debt load of 1.25 EDU per year	447.05
Residential with some sewer debt payments	1,885
Commercial with some sewer debt payments	144
Vacant with some sewer debt payments	152
Ice Rink, Car Wash, One EDU, plus 1 unit, to the nearest hundredths, for each N gallons of water used as metered, or if unmetered, as calculated.	100,000
Commercial/Industrial, one EDU, plus 1 unit, to the nearest hundredths, for each N gallons of water used as metered, or if unmetered, as calculated.	25,000

Anticipated questions

By changing vacant lots to ½ EDU, the total number of EDUs decreases to 3,366 and the value of a single EDU raises by $7.65.

An assessment is calculated by totaling the number of EDUs first. Then divide the annual debt payment by the number of available EDUs. Since only the 144 commercial EDUs will vary, debt assessment and administration should be fairly simple.

RESOLUTION NO. _____

RESOLUTION AUTHORIZING THE RELEVY FOR DELINQUENT WATER & SEWER CHARGES

The Town Board of the Town of Chenango, duly convened in Regular Session, October 12, 2022, does hereby RESOLVE as follows:
